State vs. Ray Yeargle of Bethel, attempting to break and escape from jail.

The only case to materialize for trial, Wednesday, was that of C. L. Saunders, plaintiff of Hebron, vs. J. W. Pratt, defendant, of Farmington. The action was to recover the price of forty barrels of apples at $1.40 per barrel, plus a commission of $13.90 on a carload, shipped to the defendant's cannery at Monmouth on Dec. 25 of last year. The plaintiff claimed he was acting as agent for the capacity of an agent. He was in the capacity of an agent. He was in the capacity of an agent.

The defence denied Saunders was acting in the capacity of an agent. He claimed the apples were not up to quality demanded, and found badly frozen when received, consequently the shipment was rejected.

According to the plaintiff the car contained some hundred and thirty-nine barrels in bulk shipped in a refrigerator car. Claim was made that every precaution was taken to forward the shipment in a safe and satisfactory manner. A commission of ten cents per barrel was asked.

After deliberating fifty minutes the jury returned a verdict of $70.55 for Saunders. The case was appealed to the law courts. Tasas Atwood for plaintiff and Butler of Farmington for defendant.

After a brief conference with Justice John A. Morrill, Merton L. Kimball of Norway, who brought suit against Sheriff King F. Graham of Portland, where in assault was alleged, came to an agreement with Assistant County Attorney Ralph M. Ingalls of Portland. "Neither party no further action" was entered, and the incident closed. Mr. Kimball conducted his own suit.

Morrill, Judge Aretas E. Stearns, who succeeds Mr. Herrick, Hon. Waldo Pettengill, Tasas Atwood, Esq., Frederick R. Dyer, Esq., and Judge Herrick. Congregational Church Notes
The subject of the morning sermon last Sunday was "The Christian Church," in which Mr. Morris pointed out the debt we owe to the church for the Christian civilization we now enjoy, and that if we are not to be classed as parasites upon society, drawing upon the moral protection of, and living upon the fruits of the work of the church without acknowledgment, we are bound by honor to ally ourselves with that great onward-moving force which ever champions the best things in life.

Mr. Morris will speak on "The Supreme Task of the Church" and will show how this task can be met. The subject for the evening is "Five Kinds of Piety."

The members of the congregation have agreed to purchase new hymn books may be secured at an early date. This will greatly enhance the value of the services of the church.

Concert at Opera House

The song recital given Friday evening by Helen Yorke of Augusta, Marion Haskell and Ruth Cummings of Norway was held at the Norway Opera House. There was a good sized audience and the artists received hearty applause. The concert was unusually interesting to local people as all three artists were Oxford County girls—Miss Yorke from Bethel and Miss Haskell and Miss Cummings from Norway.

Miss Yorke has a wonderful voice of wide range and of pleasing quality. She sings with unusual ease and her pleasing personality wins her audience at once. The musical numbers were varied and brought out the excellent qualities in her voice and her dramatic ability to interpret the selections.

Miss Yorke studied music for four years in Italy, under prominent instructors and on her return to America was a member of an opera company of New York, leaving the opera to take up concert work.

Marion Haskell of Norway was the violinist and much credit is due "the Norway violinist." Her selections held the closest attention of the audience and were thoroughly enjoyed. All of her selections were finely executed. Miss Haskell is a pupil of Prof. Winternitz of Boston and is meeting with fine success, gaining an enviable reputation as a violinist of high merit.

Ruth Cummings of Norway was the accomplished accompanist to both artists and her fine interpretation brought out the best in the artists.

Miss Cummings is a graduate of the Faelton School of Boston, having taken a four years' course. She has accompanied Miss Yorke at several concerts, at the Bridgton Festival, Bethel, Augusta and Lewiston and Miss Haskell has also played at these concerts and the trio have thoroughly pleased their audiences and are receiving congratulations on their success.

After the banquet the champion chess player called on Past Chancellor Donald B. Partridge, who presented Mr. Cummings, in behalf of the Knights, with a fine umbrella, remarking that it was rather embarrassing to Mr. Cummings to have to make excuses on a rainy night that he was unable to attend one of their meetings.

Remarks were made by Henry B. Foster and Edward D. Smith and the program was enjoyed including vocal selections by Harold Moore, Abe Klein and Elton L. Brown. Anderson's orchestra furnished music for dancing which was enjoyed until a late hour.

News From Visalia Friends

From Visalia, California letters, we learn that Harry Gibson planted some potatoes on a lot back of his new home in January, also built a grape arbor; as one of the neighbors gave some nice rooted grape vines to him. He planted morning glories and moon flowers for summer shade. There had been some rain which the country needs, and beautiful days just like spring, with green grass and shade. There are quite a number of blossoms. The report is better and the hours are from 8 A. M. to 8 P. M. and the four drug stores in town take turns on Sunday opening part of the day, so each has only one Sunday in four. Ralph recently took a trip to Redlands, where he called on M. M. Thimney, the Prince sisters and Sam Rigby's family. The Prince sisters were glad to see someone from Norway. He said they were very pleasantly situated with a fine large place. He also called on relatives in Pomona and thought that by far the best part of the state and Pomona about the finest town he saw. Thought that part of the state "the garden spot of the earth." Returning from Los Angeles to Visalia he was by motor bus over the Ridge Route 4,000 ft. elevation and concrete road all of the way.

Next Mary Gibson is to enter the high school, which is only two blocks from their home. This year she takes sewing and next year both cooking and sewing and likes very much.

Mrs. Gibson is busy as ever, getting everything in her cozy new home fixed to her mind, and enjoys the sleeping porch very much. Ralph Harriman says, he thinks he does not want ever to live anywhere else and Mrs. Harriman writes she is "liking better all of the time." They enjoy very much the many cards and good letters from their Norway friends as well as their friends in the Advertiser, which they receive weekly.

IS It "Just a Cold"?

Norway People Should Ask Themselves This Question

Don't say: "It's just a cold." It may turn into backache, rheumatic aches, achy joints.

Or other serious sickness that comes from weak kidneys.

Colds are due to congestion. Congestion makes the kidneys over-work to filter the blood.

Colds often leave the kidneys weak. First break the cold;

Then use Doan's Kidney Pills to avert the kidney dangers.

Let this Norway resident tell you about them.

W. O. Needham, ret. farmer, 230 Main St., says: "At different times when I have taken a cold my kidneys were affected. I began using Doan's Kidney Pills when I felt that my kidneys needed a tonic. Doan's always strengthened my kidneys and cleared my system of the excessive uric acid. I always feel better in a short time after using this remedy. I always get my supply at F. P. Stone's Drug Store." (Statement given July 24, 1908.)

On September 3, 1920 Mr. Needham said, "I haven't changed my good opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills since recommending them many years ago. Doan's benefited me greatly."

Horses Ran Away

C. E. Hills' horses that Daniel Smith was driving at the portable mill on the Notch road, ran away from him, Thursday night, Jan. 27. He stepped into the mill to get his dinner pail and coat and when he got back the horses were gone. They ran to Frank Harmon's barn that was one-fourth mile from Mr. Smith's home. When he got to them one of the horses was down. He got him on his feet again after a hard struggle, and was leading them to the road, when one of them stumbled and hit Mr. Smith in one of his legs just above the ankle joint, cracking one of the bones in his leg.

With Clean Hands

"Give us cheaper food," the consumers cry. Farmers have responded, in the face of discouraging difficulties. Yet the consumers still cry out against the high cost of foodstuffs, and against the farmers. The National Grange demands that the complaint be lodged against those who are truly to blame—against food manipulators and wasteful distributors. And the distributor is the city man's neighbor; food distribution is the city man's problem. Not until the consumers clear themselves of responsibility for high prices can they come with clean hands to criticize or even help the producers.

The hands of the Grange are clean. All its acts have been for the benefit of producer and consumer alike. Because it has helped the farmer to do his share in producing, it can fittingly say to the city consumer: "Yours and yours only is the task of remedying food distribution evils."

On the score of its clean record for service the Grange merits your support. And it urges, too, your support for the work of THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN, which has stood with the farmer in his cleanly-fought fight for a decent living—has thrown light on what happens between the producer and the consumer. It will keep you informed of the newest methods in the management of your farm business and provide wholesome entertainment for your whole family. To The PEOPLE OF OXFORD COUNTY

Do you realize that more than two hundred patients from Oxford County are treated every year at the Central Maine General Hospital of Lewiston? Do you know that it cost $82,000 to run this hospital last year? Do you know that $17,000 of this amount was spent for those who could not pay any, or only in part?

Do you know that it takes two years and three months of hard work and study and an expenditure of $1,000 to graduate a nurse and that we have graduated 281 nurses since 1903 and 18 this past year?

HERE'S THE POINT

A public spirited man in Auburn has offered to build a nurses' home and when completed to present the same to the Central Maine General Hospital with this requirement—that we reduce the debt of $90,000 to $30,000.

Our hospital and equipment would cost to build at least $300,000. We have a fund that has been given to us by different people at different times that amounts to $48,000 and from this fund we get interest yearly.

Mr. A. B. Ricker of the Poland Springs and Mr. Fitz are out to raise $60,000, that the debt may be reduced by this amount, at the most inopportune time that could be selected.

The nurse and the hospital are inseparable. We must have both. The whole of the central part of Maine cannot get along without them.

The manufacturing interests of Oxford County are giving. We want the folks to give. We want you to give and no matter how little or how much. This is a critical period. We ask the store keepers and the business men of the county to give, bearing in mind at all times that this is your hospital even if situated in another county.

$55,000 OF THE $60,000 HAS ALREADY BEEN PLEDGED

There is no sum set against your name to give. If you do not give at all the service is there for you and yours just the same. If you do give it will help that much to reduce the debt and thereby secure the nurses' home so much needed. Send your donations to

RADIO-PHONE MESSAGES

The following is an interesting story concerning Karl Steady of Berlin, N. H. He is a nephew of Mrs. W. V. Kneeland of Waterford and has spent many of his vacations with her at the old home farm in Waterford.

About the third week in September as Karl Steady, son of E. A. Steady, 154 High street, was listening for wireless messages one night he happened to place his hand in a certain position before the set when he heard a peculiar sound. A moment later clear and distinct came a man's voice. Quite excited and greatly surprised he called to other members of the family in order that he might verify this to his friends as it would be hard to believe one could receive such with a small amateur set like his. The man went on: "Now I will read from such a number of the Literary Digest." He read the article, occasionally saying, "Do you get this?" or "Do you hear me?" After several other remarks he said, "It is time for Arlington to send out, so I will stand by." By looking up numbers Karl found this was a party in a town in New Jersey conducting experiments along this line. Since that time he has received something nearly every night. Election night, while waiting returns by wireless, he heard a record with a man's voice singing as plainly as though in the room. One night he heard the operators on two boats, one near Norfolk, the other in the Delaware River; at another he heard the operator on a boat who was talking to an operator in New York. He said "he was about 120 miles out and it was chilly out there." A few nights since they heard records being played in Hartford, Conn., after which the man, who was seemingly conducting the experiment, told what store they were indebted to for the use of the records.

Saturday evening two boats near a cape in Virginia were talking and could not hear each other distinctly. One said, "I will go down below and see what the trouble is." They could hear him shut a door on his way down. He soon returned and said, "All right, now, they were turning the big search light out over the water." These are only a few of the many things Karl has heard the past two months.

It is almost too strange to believe, but many of his friends have been privileged to hear the same and they go away filled with wonder. It is most uncanny, to say the least. These are great days in the field of science and invention and happy is the boy who is interested enough to dig into these things. It might be interesting to our readers to hear how Karl became taking interest in these things. When he was very young it was a small motor that first attracted him; then he began to get interested in a telegraph key an older boy had brought in. He was allowed to string wires over the house and soon had a key up stairs and another one below and was learning the code. Later a friend, who was once a telegraph operator, moved into a house near by and he began experimenting on putting a wire between the house with a key at either end. After much hard work for a small lad, he succeeded in establishing a line and learned to use the code sufficiently to ask for what he might want from the friend at the other end. Soon he became interested in learning about wireless and obtaining a crude affair he climbed over house roofs and tried to bring it to perfection. This he failed in as he really had nothing to do with. Later he procured a small set, but before he could perfect it the war brought things to a halt. As soon as possible after those years were removed he began again, studying, asking about it, and working until now he is able to enjoy the fruits of his many hours of what, to a small boy, meant hard work. At first he began to receive time when Arlington sent out at 10 p. m., then he learned to take the weather report and later the press news to a certain extent. Now comes the latest and most satisfying of all the radio phone. What all this will mean to him later we cannot tell, but we recall how only a few short years ago our young friend (who has made such a success along this line), George Barney, was crawling over our slippery ice-covered roof trying to put up an aerial with which he hoped to talk with his friend. They too lacked the necessary funds and equipment, but later he placed one in the high school. From that small beginning he advanced till, during the war, he was sent across to the largest station in the world, a little later to help construct a still larger one in France and is now in Vienna, Austria, where he holds an important position.

"We would just like to say a word to the mothers of boys. If your boy, no matter how young, shows an inclination toward any line of thought or work, foster encourage that thought in every possible way. It will mean a cluttered house, mud-tracks on the floor, his boy friends must see what he is doing. It may mean a carpenter bench in the kitchen, wire all over the house, nails driven here and there, a big sacrifice on your part, but let me assure you of one thing: The boy who has a place at home to work out his inventions, crude though they always are at first, that boy is never a boy of the street. He is so happy and absorbed in his act of creating there is no desire for the things that ruin the lives of so many idle moments because they are not allowed to upset their home. A boy's energy must either go to the good or bad.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. Edsel B. Ford, President of the Ford Motor Company, gives out the following statement:

"The price of the FORDSON Tractor has been reduced from $790.00 to $625.00 F. O. B. Factory, effective immediately.

"This price change has been made possible through lower cost of materials and the fact that we are now located in our new Tractor Plant with greatly increased economic manufacturing facilities in immediate connection with our foundry and machine shops and large blast furnaces where iron is poured directly from the ore, giving us maximum efficiency with the power to reduce cost of production and down comes the price in line with our policy to market our products at the lowest possible figure without in any way affecting our high standard of quality.

"We are particularly pleased in being able to bring about this big reduction in price at this time because the farmer needs all the help we can give him and this big cut in price will be the means of placing a valuable power unit within the reach of practically every one of them, not to mention industrial and commercial concerns which likewise have benefited through its use and are already realizing, to a much greater extent, its value as a power plant and hauling unit. But particularly has the FORDSON Tractor proved a most valuable factor in the saving of farm labor at the same time increasing the per acre crop yield as well as making possible a utilization of previously uncultivated land, to say nothing of removing no end of drudgery.

"There is no question that the use of machine power on the farm is the greatest advancement made in the development of agriculture not only in money saving and money making results, as well as raising the standard of living on the farm to a much higher level, but because of its proved value in making every type of land more productive, and consequently our desire to place the FORDSON within the reach of all.

"THERE IS NO CHANGE IN THE PRESENT FORD CAR AND TRUCK PRICES, which are already at the lowest possible figure and now with rock bottom reached the tractor price a further reduction in price of either the Car, Truck or Tractor is out of the question: in fact, the big price cuts have made in anticipation of continuous maximum production and increases may be necessary before long if a large volume of new business is not obtained. Therefore, present prices of Ford products cannot be guaranteed against possible increases."

Ask for the book "The Fordson at Work" which will be supplied free of cost. Let us demonstrate the value of the Fordson on your farm, in your factory, lumber yard, coal yard, or in any general hauling or power work you may have to do and let us have your order for a FORDSON.

Mrs. Albert B. Caswell and friends and relatives as well were much shocked and saddened on Sunday, Jan. 30, to hear of the sudden death of Mrs. Amanda Caswell, wife of Albert B. Caswell, which occurred in St. Petersburg, Florida, where Mr. and Mrs. Caswell were spending the winter; not until Monday was it generally known that Mrs. Caswell had passed to the Great Beyond; the immediate cause of her death being a shock on Wednesday evening, when she complained about not feeling as well as usual, and from which she never rallied, her life ebbing away until the end came on Saturday.

Mrs. Caswell (neé Amanda Weeks) was born in Denmark, March 7, 1858, having been married to Mr. Caswell thirty-three years in December, nearly all these years being spent in her home at the head of Crystal Lake, except for seven or eight years when they moved to Stockholm, Alaska. Having so many years in Harrison, the deceased was best known by her friends and relatives caring little for the social activities of the town.

Funeral services were held, Friday afternoon, at the old home, now owned and kindly offered to Mr. Caswell for the funeral by Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Leighton, at 2 p. m., conducted by the Rev. C. G. Miller of South Paris, who spoke comforting words to the bereaved husband and relatives. The flowers were numerous and beautiful, showing in their mute loveliness and color the sincere sympathy of relatives and friends.

Mrs. Georgianna M. (Kendall) Smith, wife of the late Ahira Smith, passed away at her home Sunday morning, January 30. She was the daughter of the late J. J. and M. A. Kendall of Newry, Sunday River Valley and was born February 25, 1849. Funeral service was held at the home Tuesday, Feb. 2. Interment at Riverside Cemetery, Bethel.

AGRICULTURE IN THE ARMY

Chas. D. Woods, for nearly a quarter of a century, Director of the Maine Agricultural Experiment Station, and Director of Agriculture at Camp Devens, Mass., is offering to Maine boys the following proposition:

the development of the new Army directed by the Congress, and elaborated by the Secretary of War, it is desired to make a far closer relation between the Army and the civilian than heretofore. Without losing sight of the function of the soldier, he is now being trained for his return to citizenship as a more useful citizen than at present and better fitted to cope with the problems of living. To this end the Army is divided between military and agricultural education, and superintended by the industries. Because of the fact that of necessity recruiting stations are located in the large cities, the young men living in the rural districts are being neglected. Benefiting from this policy of providing for the civilian for soldiers. In order to open up for the young man living in the rural to have an equal chance with city boy, the War Department has established a school for teaching practiculture at Camp Devens. There is abundance of arable land, equipment animals and farm machinery of the best approved type, and a faculty fa-rily with the every day work of the English farm. The instruction will be of a practical nature, the student doing the thing and learning the theory afterwards. This is the so-called "practical" method in which the eye is used to see, the hand to do and the mind to think.

Briefly stated, it is the purpose of the War Department to annually enlist rural New England several hundred young men who have not had an opportunity to obtain a high school education and to Camp Devens, Mass., furnish them with comfortable quarters, food, well fitting clothing, suitable education and thirty dollars a month; and then the essentials of military training, practical civics and practical agriculture; and at the end of their enlistment to return them to their homes better equipped physically and mentally for citizenship, leadership and earning their bread on the farm.

The Army is fast filling up and if Maine boys get this chance the previous year, enlistment must be made within the next two months.

CORN PACKING IN MAINE

There has been much speculation as the corn packing industry in Maine during the year 1920. Information received recently from one of the heads of one of the largest packing companies in Maine, declares that the policy of all the packers will be one of constructive conservatism, and Maine packers are living up to this plan in every particular. Continuing, he declared, that until the present congestion of food stuffs is relieved and goods begin to move, until the present confusion of economic entanglements is battered down, until the Western packers take the initiative and announce their plans not one step will be taken by the packers in Maine in preparation for next year's pack.

Maine canners were present at the annual meeting of the National Canners' Association held at Atlantic City, N. J., where were present representatives of all of the leading packers, manufacturers of canning machinery, merchandisers, grocers, and wholesale grocers, from all parts of the United States. This great convention means much to the people of Maine, it is asserted, because of all canned goods packed, corn ranks second in volume, and Maine occupies a prominent place among the several states that produce this vegetable. For several years the pack of Maine corn has been in excess of the demands of consumption. Large stocks have been piling up and the country has fallen into a severe financial depression. Here of Maine corn are depressed for money. They have wages to pay and financial obligations to meet and must convert their corn into cash. The public is determined that food prices must come down. The jobber and the packer are meeting this demand and are taking their chances wherever they can sell. We have the anomaly of Maine corn offered in the retail trade for less than it cost the packer to produce it at the factory, and yet the stocks do not move. Manufacturers who would gladly sell their stocks at a loss for the sake of getting a fresh start for the coming year are helpless, bound hand and foot.

What has happened to Maine corn has happened to every other food-stuff and business is staggering painfully from the financial knockout dealt it during the closing months of 1920.

It is also declared that the cost of canning corn in Maine is higher than in any other state. Fancy Maine corn has commanded a small premium over other packs because of superior quality. When Maine corn loses that superiority of quality it is no better than any other and brings no better price.

Minnesota and New York State have developed a corn which is accepted by discriminating buyers as equivalent in every respect to our own. In each of these states corn was bought by the packer during the past year for little over half the price paid the Maine farmers. The finished product sold on the market for the same price as fancy Maine corn and Maine was also handicapped as a distributor by unfavorable freight rates.

With these conditions confronting those directly interested in the sweet corn industry in Maine, farmers and packers alike must remember that Maine can hold its place in a highly competitive industry only by adhering absolutely to its standard of quality. Never before has co-operation and confidence been so essential as now. If these principles are accepted and carried out in fact, then and only then may we expect a wholesome development of business in Maine during the coming year.

A FATHER'S MEDITATION

I have reformed my ways with regard to my wife, and she is a happier and more contented woman today—and her happiness makes our home brighter for me. But I have still my children to consider, for in my determination to chase the shadows from the life of my wife I neglected to include them. It seems that always I forget something. But it is never too late to add another link in the chain of reformation. I will forge it today.

I am responsible for the presence of my children in this world. Their tomorrow is my legitimate care of today, and by my acts they will judge me.

Do I remember that in their infancy they have neither thought nor care of the future—that to them it is void, the meaning of which has not penetrated their infantile brains?

Do I remember that even the slightest of impressions are often indelibly stamped upon their budding memories, to accompany them through life and into the shadows beyond?

Do I remember that many of those impressions must necessarily be formed from the manner of my actions in their presence, and of the treatment I accord to them?

Do I remember that as they become older their conceptions of right and wrong will be gauged mainly by the examples they receive in their own home?
Do I remember that while their destinies must be carved out by their own hands, yet their future will be principlally determined by the paths into which I lead them today?

Do I make of myself a beacon light that they may follow in confidence and in the knowledge that it will lead them through the intricate perils of youth and into the safe harbor of maturity?

Am I to them at all times and in all things the kind and loving parent whom little children delight to fondle and to caress?

Do I give to them such tender thought and care that they may see and drink in always the sunshine of their home?
Is my daily treatment of them such that they long each night for the hour when daddy comes home again?
And as the years lead them slowly from infancy to youth and from youth to maturity shall I be to them a companion, a comrade, a loyal friend as well as a parent?

Alas! My shortcomings have been many and great. Always I have forgotten—and to forget is to neglect.

The burden of their care has fallen principally upon the frail shoulders of my wife—that loving companion whose burdens I should also bear, as well as hers.

But I will make amends! I will remember all of these things and I will do all of these things, for as I am to them today so will they be to their children in their own time—for heredity is strong and may not easily be cast aside.
And when the years have again been silvered by the lapse of time, and I have passed on to my reward, I would that they might some day think back over the years that have flown and write of me that epitaph which is more lasting than granite, more precious than gold: "My father was a good man."

ALBANY

Frank E. Bean

The whole community was shocked and saddened on hearing of the death of Frank E. Bean, who passed away early Friday morning at his home in Oxford.
He was born fifty-one years ago at Hunt's Corner in the house where his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Bean, still live and welcome home the children and grandchildren and where his loss will be felt more keenly than can be expressed.
He was the oldest child and his loss first link to be removed from this family chain. This is rather remarkable as Mr. and Mrs. Bean will have been married fifty-three years next March.

With them he made his home until about twenty years ago when he was united in marriage with Mrs. Inez Johnson of Albany. They then went to live on the Stephen Cummings farm now owned by Forrest Churchill and which was the first farm settled in Albany. There they lived until twelve years ago when he was obliged to give up farming because of poor health. From there Mr. and Mrs.
Bean went to Oxford to live and make a home for his aunt, Mrs. Roxie French.

Here, February first, he submitted to a critical surgical operation. Although the physicians and surgeon called it successful and for a short time he seemed to be as comfortable as possible under such circumstances, he was unable to suffering and especially the last three weeks, which were almost unbearable because of constant and terrible pain, had so weakened him that he could not rally.

He had the best care possible and all that could be done to aid him in his suffering. He was a kind and thoughtful son and husband, a kind and thoughtful neighbor ready to do whatever he could for others and too many times doing beyond his strength.

Mr. Bean was a member of Oxford Lodge L. O. E. F., North Waterford, and Evergreen Rebekah Lodge of the same place, also a member of the Knights of Pythias. In all of these orders he was a loyal and faithful worker and an honored brother.

Wherever Frank was known he was liked and wherever he stopped he made friends and left them happier and more cheerful by his fun and jokes. Even when suffering so badly he tried to be cheerful and joke with those around him.

While in Oxford he has clerked in various local stores, been a substitute on R.
F. D. besides doing various other things that his health would permit.

He leaves besides his wife and parents, three brothers, Herbert of Albany, Amos of Haverhill, Mass., Perry in Colorado and one sister, Mrs. Nina Burnham, a teacher in Andover, Mass. A step-daughter, Frank Bean of Haverhill, Mass. He leaves also uncles, aunts, cousins, nephews, nieces and hosts of friends who will mourn because he has gone beyond and left such an empty place in our hearts and homes.

Prayers were held Saturday afternoon at his home in Oxford and the funeral at the Congregational Church at Hunt's Corner, Sunday, Feb. 14, at 10 o'clock.

Waterford was in attendance. The Odd Fellows held their service and with the Knights left their silent tokens of love for this brother. The flowers were many and beautiful, more gifts of love and esteem.

Interment was in the family lot in the cemetery near his early home.

Abel Andrews and wife took dinner with their old neighbors, Anna Cummings and her brother, A. D. Cummings. They had been in Livermore Falls to attend the funeral of his sister, Mrs. Ruth Bowen.
She was formerly known by the name of Ruth Andrews and used to work for Dr.
Mills of Bethel for many years.

HER BIG CHANGE WAS A

SURPRISE

Mrs. Campbell Says She Looks and Feels Like a New Woman Since Taking Tanlac

"My friends are all surprised when they see me now, and no wonder, for I feel and look like a new woman since taking Tanlac," said Mrs. John Campbell, formerly of Waterville, Maine, but for the past year has been residing at 10 High Street Place, Lewiston, Maine.

"I had fine health up to five years ago, but about that time I began to suffer from indigestion and in spite of everything I could do I grew worse all the time. I finally dreaded to eat anything because I knew it meant suffering afterwards. For a long while before I began taking Tanlac I didn't eat a full meal a day."

"I suffered at times from intense nausea and also violent pains in my chest and would often have such terrible headaches that I would scream out in agony. I was told that an operation was my only hope. Of course, my nerves went to pieces from all the trouble I had and it was seldom that I was ever able to get my sound sleep. I grew so weak and thin that my family and friends were all worried about me."

"That I was in such an awful condition hardly seems possible now. I feel so well and happy. I had been taking Tanlac only a short time when all the distressing symptoms began to disappear. It is glorious to have my health back again and to be able to eat heartily three times a day and have no fear of indigestion. My nervousness is gone and I have no more restless nights."

"My husband is as enthusiastic about Tanlac as I am because he gained six pounds in ten days by taking it. After he saw what it had done for me, we have made Tanlac our family medicine and I don't believe we will ever need another."

Tanlac is sold by A. L. Clark Drug Co.

WATERFORD

To the Voters of Waterford

Although absent from my home town and unlikely to be present at the coming annual meeting, but having the welfare of our common schools in mind, I want to call your attention to a few points in relation to them—which may be entitled to a measure of consideration prior to the time when you will be called upon to make an appropriation of money for the maintenance of those schools for the coming year. This same matter will doubtless be brought to your attention in the forthcoming report of our Superintendent of schools, but as the report of our town officers is often delayed in distribution to the voters until a very short time before the annual meeting—many not receiving it until that day—I am writing this in order to give a little more time for thought.

You did well last March when you increased by 100 per cent the appropriation for schools over that of the previous year, but many towns in the state did even better. The estimate of amount which would be necessary to maintain our schools the past year was based in part on the assumption that we would share in the distribution of the equalization fund the same as last year, thereby increasing by several hundred dollars the amount available for school purposes, but from the fact that our municipal rate of taxation fell below the average for the state, we were deprived of participation in that distribution, while the rate of taxation for school purpose was sufficient, the municipal rate was not—hence we lose.

Now it appears to me to be inevitable that we face a deficit of several hundred dollars from the year about to close and that it will be absolutely necessary to very materially increase our appropriation over that of last year, in order to properly maintain our schools the requisite number of weeks.

The cost of a school week may be somewhat increased, for it is a fact that the State of Maine and the country at large as for that matter, faces a decided shortage of teachers from the fact in part that the incentive, so far as remuneration is concerned, has not been sufficient to induce large numbers to fit themselves for the profession—There may be plenty who are willing to try it, but I refer to efficient teachers who have the faculty, and are willing to impart knowledge.

We have been fortunate in past years to be able to secure some of our best teachers who were residents of our town and I hope that we may be able to do so in the future. In the secondary schools we have a good way to go, but I refer to efficient teachers who have the faculty, and are willing to impart knowledge.

I am confident that this high standard will be maintained through the efforts of our present supervisor, Mr. Stuart. Let us not tie his hands with an insufficient appropriation. Teachers must be recommended for common schools will be conservative and should be appreciated. Feeling sure as I do that it will be judiciously expended by himself. If there was any error in management last year, it was the result of not being sufficiently familiar with conditions, to recognize the special needs of the different schools in town and adverse criticism should be withheld.

Engene Nelson.

Aint it funny how a girl can learn how to fix a balky automobile engine when she can't learn how to peel potatoes!

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hebbard left for St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 9, after waiting since December for reservations. A general exodus from the northern states is given as the cause for the delay. This will be a two part show with features in the olio a little different from the usual home talent product. The balladists have the latest song hits and the musical part will be exceptionally strong. A snappy orchestra with the real "jugger" syncopation will head the show.
